Dual Band (UHF CB/AM CB) Radio

Whoever is pushing the button, whether a one-to-one or group call, is the speaker. The call is completed and everyone disconnects. As you can see, the Direct Connect feature still relies on cellular technology to connect to the recipient(s). Released On 10th Sep 2015 Photo Courtesy: Pixabay

If you need to communicate with family, friends or coworkers over a distance outdoors or throughout a building, there's nothing like a good set of walkie-talkies. Memory effect of NiMH batteries If you routinely recharge a NiMH battery before it's fully discharged, you could be affecting its long-term battery life. It uses the 800 MHz portion of the radio spectrum assigned to specialized mobile radio (SMR) service. Once your over the phone sale is complete, we'll send you a payment link to safely and securely pay for your purchase. With the right care, you should enjoy the full extent of your two way radio battery's life. Green would mean the charge is complete, but a flashing light can indicate a problem with the battery or charger. A normal cell phone call uses two separate frequencies, one to send and one to receive, for each call while a Direct Connect call uses only a single frequency. Always read the manufacturer's instructions All radios are slightly different, so do familiarise yourself with the specific recharging instructions of your two way radio battery manufacturer. For expert advice about your two way radio, contact DCS 2 Way Radio on 0800 294 7766. This is known as "initialising", and it will help you obtain the maximum battery capacity. This makes Nextel a very popular provider for companies with a workforce that can be spread out, such as construction work. Nextel is unique among service providers because it has an entirely separate cellular network that has its own frequencies and equipment in addition to the normal cell network shared with other providers. Signs of this include your radio constantly beeping when turned on or transmitting, or the battery needing to be recharged at shorter and shorter intervals. If it's not, it will affect the charging process. For example, if you regularly recharge a battery when it still has 50% of its charge, it may eventually remember that point, resulting in it only holding a charge for 50% in future. PLUS - Same Day Delivery and Express Pick Up available at selected postcodes. Using a combination of half-duplex and full-duplex signals, iDEN is able to provide: Normal cell phone voice communications Messaging (pager, e-mail) Digital two-way radio (one-to-one and group) - This is the dispatch call capability. Data services (Wireless Web and private networks) The digital two-way radio service uses a half-duplex signal. If you're sure the battery is correctly placed in the charger, but the light is still flashing, contact your two way radio supplier for advice. Systems using the Direct Connect feature can communicate anywhere within the service area specified by Nextel, typically a large urban area or even an entire state. See the next page for more information. Call 1300 942 765 Over The Phone Sales 9AM - 9PM 7 DAYS (varies on public holidays). Most chargers have a light system which indicates its status when you're charging the battery. Depending on how heavy your usage is, a rechargeable battery could last 2 to 3 years, but if yours needs replacing more frequently, you might find the following tips useful to get a longer life cycle from your battery. Charge NiMH batteries for 14-16 hours, and Li-Ion batteries for an extra 1 to 2 hours after the charger light turns green. If your radio doesn't turn on It may not be a problem with the battery. Nextel has purchased a large segment of these frequencies in a significant number of the national and international cellular service markets. iDEN uses TDMA technology to split a 25 KHz frequency into six separate time slots. We're here to help. Turn radios off when recharging Nearly all manufacturers will advise you to turn your radio off while it's charging. This person (or group) must use Nextel's service also. Manufacturers differ in their approach but as an example, a solid red could mean the battery is sited correctly and is charging. Put the battery into another radio (which you know is working) to check whether the issue relates to the battery or the radio. Don't use the charger as a stand We've seen some situations where tidy-minded offices use the charging unit as a stand to store the radio when not in use. PTT requires the person speaking to press a button while talking and then release it when they are done. Over The Phone Sales 9am - 9pm 7 Days (varies on public holidays). Stay Safe. The listener then presses their button to respond. This service is typically free as long as the other user is in the local coverage area. For more help with radio maintenance, call our friendly experts on 0800 294 7766 for a free consultation. Contactless Delivery & Store Pick Up available. You can even specify a group of Nextel users (up to 100) that you can connect to all at once, similar to a dispatcher's radio like police or taxi companies use. To enable Direct Connect, Nextel configures your phone to use the dispatch call service to reach the person or persons you specify. If you don't, the radio is both drawing current and charging at the same time. Direct Connect relies on the proven technology of Push To Talk (PTT), commonly used in dispatch radio systems. When you make a Direct Connect call to someone, here's what happens: You hit the Direct Connect button, which is configured with the number(s) of the person (or group) you are calling. Your phone establishes a session with the Nextel iDEN-based network. The network determines that this is a dispatch call (Direct Connect) instead of an interconnect call (a normal cell phone call). The network then determines if it is a one-to-one or a group call. When your battery needs replacing Even with the best care, your rechargeable battery will eventually need to be replaced. This network is based on Motorola's Integrated Digital Enhanced Network (iDEN) and makes Direct Connect possible. MORE FROM CONSUMERSEARCH.COM Nextel phones offer a service called Direct Connect that allows you to push a single button and connect with another Nextel user. This way the system knows which direction the signal should be traveling in. Something known as the "memory effect" means that charging batteries that still retain a charge will cause the battery to only partially charge. Place the battery in the charger correctly It sounds obvious, but make sure your battery is positioned correctly in the charger. This can shorten the life of the battery. Line up the grooves on the battery and the charger - you should almost feel it "click" into place if it's sitting correctly. Check out this list of some of the best-reviewed walkie-talkies in a plethora of categories. A normal "walkie talkie" style two-way radio will only operate if the radios are within a certain distance of each other. Whether it's kids playing in the neighborhood, families hiking in remote areas or crews on a job site, walkie-talkies come in handy in many situations. If it is a group call, the network duplicates the digital voice packets for each phone in the group. The network routes the packets to the phone (or phones) of the person (or group) you are calling. Their phone alerts them that they have a Direct Connect call. They answer the call by pressing the Talk button. If the second radio won't turn on either, you probably just need a new battery. How do you find the right walkie-talkies to fit your needs? Only put the radio in the charger when it needs recharging! Initialising new batteries New batteries need a long overnight charge before you use them for the first time.
